

Creative and entrepreneurial? Are you looking for a challenge where you can make a difference? If so, our startup is looking for you.

Front End Developer / Designer 40 to 80%.

Joineer AG - Zurich, with immediate effect

Who we are

We are a young HR-Tech startup from Zurich, which was founded in 2017 and employs six people. Joineer develops digital tools for tomorrow's HR. Our vision: To empower people to create a culture in which they can unfold their full potential. We help our clients to better involve their employees in decision-making and change processes. In order to achieve our goal, we have developed the Teambarometer. A tool that combines modern technology with methods from positive psychology.

Your Focus: Front-End Development & Design

One of the most important requirements for the optimal use of our system is the UX and the Look & Feel. Your main task is to set new standards in user-friendliness and design with the Teambarometer. At Joineer, you will be strongly involved in the strategic processes right from the start and will have free hand in implementing them. You program the front end and contribute to communication and marketing in order to further develop the Joineer brand with us.

What we are looking for

We are looking for a person who is creative, wants to grow with us and has internalized entrepreneurial thinking and acting. You have sound know-how in Front End Development, are familiar with Vuetify and Vue.js and have an eye for design details. A plus is if you like writing and are familiar with social media and online marketing.

What we offer

A young and dynamic team and a creative workplace in the heart of Zurich. Involvement in the entire process of corporate development: from strategic decision-making to the detailed implementation of features. A meaningful task with a cool product that generates great added value for employees and companies alike. An early start with the possibility of participation in the company as well as a lot of responsibility and decision-making authority.

We are looking forward to hearing from you

Fabian Jäger

fabian@joineer.ch

+41 44 510 38 00