

Where others advise, we implement.

ACTORY is a service company for corporate ventures and company building. We put innovation projects and strategic business initiatives into action. We operate like an in-house startup. While using existing resources within companies first, then blend in missing resources and skills from our own pool of experts. ACTORY is an international business collective. We are action-driven makers who believe in the power of co-creation. By combining business, design, tech and people's expertise, we are committed to making every part of the business and accomplish your ambitious goals. - www.actory.com -

To support our international business collective, we are looking for a

Trainee Venture Architect, 6 months

(60 - 100%, with option of a permanent employment after 6 months)

What are your tasks?

- support the team, especially Dani – Founder and Venture Architect – with researches, project coordination and administration
- take over responsibility for smaller projects and subprojects – not just content-wise but also as contact partner for the client

What is your background?

- academic degree or just before graduation
- working experience – convince us that you have already proven your ability to get things done, that you know what it means to get your hands dirty and to create tangible results

What can you expect?

- chance to work with inspiring international business architects and to learn from committed experts in specific fields
- modern methodology based on true collaboration and agile development
- a lot of responsibility from the very beginning and personal contribution to “live” projects
- working remote / home office (actory and main client in Rotkreuz)

If you are action-driven, like new challenges, are flexible, want to take responsibility, have a positive attitude, believe in the power of borderless teamwork and speak german fluently, we would love to hear from you.

Please send your complete application dossier to our external HR partner synfluence: bewerbung@synfluence.ch