Senior Software Engineer / DevConsultant 100% - Zurich

Do you want to take your software development and project management skills to the next level and create with us the future of web- & mobile solutions? We are Modeso - a founder-led technology hub specialised in providing expertise and resources to streamline development processes, creating great customer experiences and building new digital business models with venture partners. Our clients range from local agencies, growing tech startups and international corporations. At Modeso you will work as part of our team based in Zurich and also closely collaborate with our team in Alexandria in an agile environment.

Your Responsibilities

- You are the customers single point of contact during the software engineering process, located in our Office in Zürich or at the clients location.
- You need to understand the requirements of the client and you're responsible to estimate the projects scope together with our development team, set the project timeline as well as creating the offer for the submitted project.
- During the software development process you transfer your knowhow to our nearshore team in egypt leading the development team
    - You're setting the architecture of the product
    - You're review the code of your peers
    - You're developing the components and delegate work to your peers in egypt
    - You're responsible to give the UI the final touch
    - You're responsible that the QA Guidelines are meet
- Additionally you are consulting the client with possible further development of the product or in which areas we could help him as well.

Your technical skills

- 5+ years of professional experience and strong ability to develop modern web applications.
- Expertise in the full cycle of Web Application development from coding to deployment and server management on Linux.
- Expertise Working in Agile Environment
- Experienced in Consulting (requirement analysis, conceptual understanding, offering process)
- Ability to coach and leading project teams
- A high standard of written and spoken German & English
- Experience in all of the following programming languages is necessary:
  - NodeJS, TypeScript, Swift, Kotlin

Your soft skills

- Embrace a dynamic and fast changing environment
- Highly motivated and ability to work independently
- Highly interested in Mobile & Web Technologies
- An open, flexible, team-oriented personality, with very good communication skills
- Reliability, the ability to grasp relevant issues quickly and meticulous attention to detail

Benefits

- Flexible working hours and Home-office possibilities
- Personal development plan and direct coaching from our CTO
- Desk at our team space in the dynamic co-working space Weshive close to Hardbrücke with free coffee, discount on food and beverage plus lots of other fun stuff
- Quarterly fully paid trips to Egypt for work but also with leisure time ;)

Contact

Samuel Schmid, CTO Modeso
samuel.schmid@modeso.ch
+41 44 585 20 52